AT A GLANCE

01 Key findings

41%
OF PURCHASES

The buyer is a 25–44 year-old city man on an iPhone, coming from Instagram.

Men 25–34 deliver 41% of purchases at the best ROAS (2.46x). Instagram is the biggest order source and takes 89% of ad spend.

1.68
ITEMS PER ORDER

He buys a complete outfit, not a single piece.

AOV rose from €85 in May to €195 in October. Bundle and complete-look ads beat single-product ads by about 2x.

93%
WITHOUT A CODE

He buys at full price.

Discount-led creative is the weakest angle (summer sale 1.62x). A price anchor works (€175, was €300); a promo code does not.

21:00
PEAK HOUR

He buys in the evening, on the sofa.

Orders peak between 19:00 and 01:00, highest at 21:00. Saturday is the strongest day of the week.

40%
CHECKOUTS COMPLETED IN GERMANY

Most money is lost after the click.

Germany brings the most traffic, but only 40% of checkouts complete. In France it is 27%, at a ROAS of 1.50x.

> A 25–44 year-old city man with an iPhone who wants to look effortlessly well-dressed, with the calm of an Italian man, without spending much time or money on it. In the evening, on the sofa, he buys a complete look in one go.

WHAT THIS MEANS

Under 35s

AOV climbs with age, so the youngest buyers are the entry funnel, not the main source of profit.

35 and over

This is where the margin sits. Men 55–64 return the same ROAS as 35–44 on a fraction of the budget.

Women

They don't buy for themselves; they buy for him. That makes them a separate, seasonal gift audience.

05 What already works

Sell the man he becomes and the complete look, not the discount.

WHERE MONEY IS LOST

06 Leaks and risks

1 German checkout drop-off

The funnel: 1,526 carts → 876 checkouts → 350 orders in 90 days. Fix it with German-language creative and checkout trust signals. Apple Pay, Google Pay and Shop Pay are already enabled; show them, because 94% of buyers are on an iPhone.

2 France underperforms

ROAS is 1.50x and only 27% of checkouts complete. Pause broad French spend until French-language creative is live.

3 The refund policy contradicts the ads

The policy promises 30-day returns, but also says "we cannot accept returns on sale items", and every product shows a compare-at price. It still contains a placeholder (`[INSERT RETURN ADDRESS]`), the Terms of Service contain placeholders, and the pages use two different contact addresses. Fix this before running risk-reversal ads.

4 About 2,000 people never bought

There are 3,835 customer records against 1,648 buyers. This is the cheapest audience you own: use it for retargeting and email.

5 Weak spots drag the average down

Men 45–54 and Facebook feed and Reels. Reduce their spend.

ACTION PLAN

08 The next 14 days

01 Fix the policy pages

Resolve risk 3 before launching angle E.

02 Launch angle D before 1 November

Its own ad set for women 30–65 in the UK, DE and US.

03 One ad set per angle

Run A, B, C and F at equal budget with the same structure. After 14 days compare CPA, ROAS and AOV, and check who actually bought.

04 Shift budget

Add budget for men 55–64, the US and the UAE. Cut men 45–54, Facebook feed and Reels, and broad France.

05 Weight delivery to the evening

Concentrate spend between 18:00 and 01:00, with an extra push on Saturday.

06 Build custom audiences

Cart and checkout abandoners (30 days) and the 2,000 non-buyers.

07 Connect Instagram organic in Windsor

Add follower demographics and top-post data to sharpen the angles.

DATA NOTES

- Meta under-attributes: it records 1,196 purchases against about 1,765 Shopify orders in the same window.
- The segments of women are small samples (37 purchases), so treat them as directional.
- Meta age and gender are reported by Meta, not verified.
- Instagram organic is not connected in Windsor, so follower demographics are not included.
